Kent County Council Services Update

Key points from the Report by Paul Carter, Leader of the Council to Full Council on 8 December 2016 (presented by Mr Simmonds, Deputy Leader)

- The annual settlement was awaited from the Government. In the Autumn Budget Statement from the Chancellor a significant omission was any mention of help for Adult Social Care and in particular, meeting the pressures Local Authorities were facing in providing care for the elderly. KCC is lobbying hard and has spoken with Kent MPs regarding the scope of the problem in meeting the demands of adult social care. These are inextricably linked to the problems in the Health Service relating to bed occupancy and ensuring there is a support infrastructure for those in hospital and needing continuing care. KCC's approach to this is fully supported by the Local Government Association.
- Sajid Javid MP (Minister for Communities and Local Government) and Chris Grayling MP were lobbied strongly when they attended the County Council's Network (CCN) Conference. CCN (Chaired by Paul Carter) has fully endorsed the request to Government to look again at providing this essential support.
- Reference was made to the very real budgetary problems that many Local Authorities had experienced which have been triggered by the need to prop up their adult social service budget. One of the options mentioned was that Government might allow an additional County Tax precept. An additional 1% Council Tax precept for Kent would produce roughly £5.6m which would help but would not meet entirely the pressures KCC was facing. The CCN has made it clear to Government that although this 1% would only be an additional £10 per annum for a band C taxpayer, which did not sound unreasonable, it would be in addition to the 1.9% council tax rise which KCC would be seeking and the 2% social care levy.
- There is a huge difference in care available between East and West Kent. In West Kent despite active recruitment there are simply not enough carers to meet demand despite premium payments from self-funders in the wealthier districts. As the aging population increases the situation will get worse. It is hoped the financial strain will begin to ease with the monies from the new Better Care Fund in 2018/19, but there may be additional obligations placed on local authorities with this additional money.
- Reference was made to the change over to the business rate. The Government is being lobbied to ensure the balancing formula for those local authorities who could not generate sufficient business rates was sensible and did not only favour the London Boroughs who did so much better than the shire countries.
- KCC is lobbying for restraint on London Boroughs, particularly those that are seeking to solve their housing problems by acquiring Kentish accommodation, which was so badly needed for its own Council Tax payers.

Active consultations:

Mental Health Service: Promoting Independence – 10 February to 24 March

KCC is consulting on a proposal to combine contracts for Housing Related Support and Supporting Independence into one integrated Mental Health Service - Promoting Independence when the existing contracts expire in October 2017.

The Housing Related Support and Supporting Independence Service both work to enable people with mental health issues to live independent lives in the community. The proposal is to join up these services to allow for more flexible support, a more person focused system which is easier to access and promotes independence.

Bringing these services together and working differently with KCC's service providers, enabling them to meet people's needs in a person centred and more responsive way, will mean that people receive the support they need, when they need it and will enable KCC to deliver the efficiencies required.

KCC would like to hear your views on how the new service should work to best meet the needs of the people of Kent. For more information please visit:

Freight Action Plan for Kent – 16 January to 12 March 2017

Kent is unique in its strategic location in the country as a gateway to mainland Europe. Despite the positive economic benefits road freight brings to the county and UK, the negative implications are felt across the county. The Freight Action Plan for Kent includes nationally and locally important priorities such as Operation Stack and the provision of overnight lorry parking as well as looking into HGV routing and the powers that KCC can use to reduce the negative impacts of road freight. The plan incorporates a refresh of the original Freight Action Plan but brings it up to date with what we have already achieved and what we will plan and continue to do to mitigate the negative impacts of road freight in Kent.

The Freight Action Plan sets out what KCC has already achieved, the roles and responsibilities of the major stakeholders of freight traffic in Kent and outlines five key actions to help mitigate the negative impacts of road freight to the county which are as follows:

- to tackle the problem of overnight lorry parking in Kent,
- to find a long term solution to Operation Stack,
- to effectively manage the routing of HGV traffic to ensure that such movements remain on the strategic road network for as much of its journey as possible,
- to take steps to address the problems caused by freight traffic to communities,
- to ensure that KCC continues to make effective use of planning and development control powers to reduce the impact of freight traffic.

This consultation is an opportunity for people and organisations within Kent to express their views, including the extent to which they agree with our actions and approach to freight issues.

New seeds of growth for Kent Sheds project

Kent residents are being encouraged to take up funding for new Kent Sheds projects, tackling mental health and wellbeing by encouraging people to make friends, share skills and support their local community through shed-based venues.

The Kent Sheds project started in 2014, jointly funded by Libor, building on the success of the international Men's Sheds movement, in a bid to tackle issues such as loneliness, social isolation and mental health problems.

Almost 30 sheds in Kent have so far received Kent County Council support to develop their projects in a range of locations including boats, lakes, shopping centres and community venues. Each Shed is unique to reflect local interest and skills of those attending. Very few are actual 'sheds', with most have fun and engaging themes and venues such as fishing lakes and allotments.

KCC Leader welcomes flood defences funding

Kent County Council has welcomed news that multi-million pound funding has been given to the Leigh, Hildenborough and East Peckham flood defences.

The £4.6 million will go towards the flood defence schemes and joins the committed £2.5m for the Leigh from KCC. It comes after extensive work between Kent County Council, the Environment Agency, Maidstone, and Tonbridge and Malling Borough Councils on the schemes.

The EA identified improvements to the Leigh and Hildenborough Flood Storage Areas, and a new flood alleviation scheme in East Peckham, as the best way to reduce the risk of flooding to as many people as possible.

Funding for this six year programme will see improvements to the Leigh Flood Storage Areas and new embankment in Hildenborough and will cost an estimated £17.1 million.

This will be funded by central government, Kent County Council and Tonbridge Malling Borough Council, together with other contributions.

A separate flood alleviation scheme in East Peckham is estimated at £7.5 million and is reliant upon a successful application for funding from the South East Local Enterprise Partnership.

The funding is part of £34.2m of government cash announced recently to help create jobs, support businesses and create new growth opportunities.

Kent County Council plans to stop illegal lorry parking on Kent's roads.

Kent County Council is looking into the feasibility of a number of small lorry parks across the county to help alleviate the blight of illegal lorry parking.

The new parks would be run as a private and public partnership and KCC will work closely with the private sector to identify what funding options exist to deliver the sites.

Strengthening Community Organisations in Kent.

More than £1 million is being pumped into developing and strengthening community organisations. Following the publication of Kent County Council's Voluntary and Community Sector (VCS) policy in September last year, a new service is being introduced to provide support to voluntary sector organisations in the county.

The service is being funded by KCC, and will be delivered by Stronger Kent Communities, a consortium of organisations, starting on January 1 covering the whole county.

Stronger Kent Communities is made up of a number of partners including Funding for All, Kent CAN, Action with Communities in Rural Kent and a number of the Volunteer Centres from across

Kent. It is funded for at least three years, although it is intended to create a sustainable model of support for the VCS in Kent in the longer term.
