Dear Sir,

LICENSING APPLICATION FOR REDHILL FARM ESTATE, REDHILL, WATERINGBURY

I write to object to the Licensing Application being made for the above premises in the strongest possible terms.

I am the sole owner of Redhill Farm Estate and have not given permission for anyone to apply for an alcohol licence on my premises. Henry Boorman does not have any tenancy agreement to occupy any part of the estate and I have recently issued an application for possession proceedings against him. He has absolutely no authority to run any sort of business from my premises.

In addition to the irrefutable fact that I am the owner of this estate I also have residential tenants at Redhill Farm. [REDACTED] and another property is let to a young mother with two children. I have had an ongoing battle to pacify neighbours whose properties adjoin Redhill Farm regarding nuisance which Henry Boorman has already caused them with his activities. Allowing him an alcohol licence will only exacerbate this nuisance factor. There is a public right of way which runs through the estate so there is no effective way of policing who walks through the estate.

I trust that when considering this application you will take account of the above facts and refuse this alcohol licence which has been made by someone with no rights to occupy my premises.

Yours faithfully,

[REDACTED]

JAN BOORMAN
